South African Wine—A brief overview

At the southern tip of Africa, where two mighty oceans meet in the shadow of landmark Table Mountain, lies the fairest Cape in the world. Known locally as the Mother City, Cape Town is the gateway to the South African wine lands and one of the great wine capitals of the world.

Here the cultures of Africa, Europe and the East have met and mingled for over 350 years, shaping a city both ancient and modern, rich in colourful history and culturally diverse. The Cape has witnessed many momentous events in South Africa's history: the landing of the Dutch settlers in 1652, the British invasion during the Napoleonic Wars, and the rebellion into the interior known as the Groot Trek.

This was where, in 1990, Nelson Mandela took his first historic walk to freedom. And it was here, four years later, that Archbishop Tutu described the new South African nation as 'the rainbow people of God', and the 'rainbow nation' was born.

Today South Africa is a peaceful democracy, a vibrant and exciting country of enormous diversity. This variety is reflected in our wines. With a wine making history dating back more than 300 years, the industry reflects the classic of the Old World but is also influenced by the contemporary fruit-driven styles of the New World.

This rare combination makes for wines which are complex yet accessible, refined yet powerful, eloquently expressing the unique terroir and people of the Cape. In the last few years, a dynamic new vision has given momentum to changes within an industry which is innovation-driven, market-directed, globally competitive and highly profitable. This new ethos has seen the local wine industry emerge as a global enterprise with strong cultural roots and a sense of social responsibility. It has truly come of age.

With the advent of democracy, the opening of new markets and exposure to international trends, South Africa can now compete with confidence on the world wine stage. A passionate new generation of wine makers, many with experience of harvests around the globe, are keen to learn, experiment and consolidate.

There's also been a focused shift from grape farming to wine growing. There are now just over 6000 wines from around 800 wineries in 20 wine making regions with a total of around 60 wards within the Wine of Origin (WO) system. Implemented in 1973 the WO system has a hierarchy of designated production regions, districts and wards. WO wines must be made 100% from grapes from the designated area. "Single vineyard" wines must come from a defined area of less than 5 hectares. An "Estate Wine" can come from adjacent farms, as long as they are farmed together and wine is produced on site. A ward is an area with a distinctive soil type and/or climate and is roughly equivalent to a European appellation.

South African wine has come a far way since its humble beginnings in 1659. From that first vine planted by Jan Van Riebeeck on the soil of the most far-flung and isolated reaches of the Dutch Colonies, South Africa now boasts many world-beating icons of today's international wine community.

The first vintage advertised for each wine was correct at the time of printing. While every effort is made to ensure that the vintages advertised will be available and the list remains up-to-date, vintages can change without warning. Please always confirm vintage and availability with your event co-ordinator. Also note that all prices are per bottle.

Seldom Seen white varietals:

“The White Cab”	2018	Stellenbosch	R 337
It is not a well-known fact that the popular red cultivar Cabernet Sauvignon has its roots in a white wine of similar celebrity. DNA profiling at Davis University in California in 1997 demonstrated conclusively that Cabernet Sauvignon is a cross between Cabernet Franc and Sauvignon Blanc. That the variety could be vinified as a white wine seemed obvious to Asara’s winemaking team, they then started creating the first white Cabernet Sauvignon in South Africa. The result is a crisp wine presenting white peach whiffs, with grenadine and tropical fruits and notes of almond butter. A mouthwatering sweet entry of winter melon, rounded off by gooseberries.

It is widely considered to produce some of the finest wines in the world, but is a difficult variety to cultivate and transform into wine—earning it some interesting nicknames.

“When it's great, Pinot noir produces the most complex, hedonistic, and remarkably thrilling red wine in the world...”—Robert Parker

Merlot wines usually have medium body with hints of berry, plum, and currant. Its softness and "fleshiness", combined with its earlier ripening, makes Merlot a popular grape for "lighter" red wine drinkers.
